PROWLER IS SHOT DOWN

George Howell, 25 years of age, believed to be a resident of Ogden was shot by Special Agent A. W. Newkirk of the Denver & Rio Grande, who observed Howell and a companion attempting to break into Wade's drug store in Salt Lake at 4 o'clock this morning. Howell died of his wound in the hospital a few minutes later. The companion, although believed to have been wounded made his escape.

Special Agent Newkirk lives at 874 W. Second South, next door to the Wade drug store. "At about 3:50 o'clock this morning," he said in a detailed statement, "my wife aroused me by telling me that some one had broken the glass in the drug store next door. I got up, slipped my trousers over my pajamas, took my gun and crept down stairs and out into the front porch. When I got down the front steps of my house I could see through a side window of the drug store the flash of an electric lantern.

"I watched and waited for a moment; then, not knowing how many were inside or how many were on guard, I crept back through my house to the back yard and up so I could observe the rear entrance of the drug store. I could see no lookout there, but it was very dark, so back I went to the front again.

"Through the side window I could see the flashlight sparkle and glitter as the men went back and forth examining the cash register. I could see one of them plainly. He was the one that got away, although I believe I shot him. He wore a black suit of clothing, a straw hat, had black hair and had no beard or moustache. I could have killed him easily through the window, but I did not know how many I had to deal with, and I believed that I could probably get more of them by getting a position where I could command the front entrance of the store.

"I slipped down the front steps leading to the street and crouched in the shadow of the vines that cover the corner of the drug store. I waited for a moment or so, and then one of the burglars started to back out.

"Come on," he yelled gruffly to some one else.

"I thought it time for me to shoot, and so I let him have it full for the heart. I understand I caught him just below the heart. He fell and yelled something, as if to the man inside. The other fellow came tumbling out after him in full flight, and as he whirled around the corner I let him have it. I am sure I hit him because just as I shot he yelled as if he had been struck. He was the fellow I saw working with the flashlight in the drug store."

Howell was about 5 feet 6 inches tall, slim, and had curly hair. At the station this morning he appeared pallid, but it was thought this was due rather to the loss of blood than to the use of drugs. A letter was found in his pocket, addressed to him at 2218 Madison avenue, Ogden. It was from E. F. Dodd, at Morgan Hill ranch, Elko. It advised Howell to remain in Ogden until Dodd could earn enough money to purchase him an additional suit of clothes.

Whitney and Johnson were the regular nominees selected at the primary held Saturday, while Whiting, as a dark horse, developed unexpectedly strong.

To Grow Hair on A Bald Head

BY A SPECIALIST

Thousands of people suffer from baldness and falling hair who, having tried nearly every advertised hair tonic and hair grower without results, have resigned themselves to baldness and its attendant discomfort. Yet their case is not hopeless; the following simple home prescription has made hair grow after years of baldness, and is also unequalled for restoring gray hair to its original color, stopping hair from falling out, and destroying the dandruff germ. It will not make the hair greasy, and can be put up by any druggist: Bay Rum, 6 ounces; Lavender de Composee, 2 ounces; Menthol Crystals, one-half drachm. If you wish it perfumed, add half to one teaspoonful of To-Kalon Perfume, which unites perfectly with the other ingredients. This preparation is highly recommended by physicians and specialists, and is absolutely harmless, as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol so frequently found in hair tonics. Adv.

MORE HOLDUPS IN CENTER OF THE CITY

Two more holdups occurred last night in which the tall and the short man figured prominently. In one instance the crooks worked nearly in the shadow of the jail. The robbers secured $62.30 as a result of their evening's work.

The first holdup was performed, at Twenty-sixth street and Wall avenue, just before the departure of the 9 o'clock train for Salt Lake. A Pocatello man was the victim to the extent of $45 but the police failed to learn his name. He described the thieves as tall and short with the tall man wearing a derby hat.

Frank Miller, a visitor from Idaho, reported the second robbery. He said he had met two men in the City Hall park last evening and the two had consented to show Miller the city. A trip to Glenwood park was proposed and it was decided to walk to the place. Miller told the police he accompanied the affable strangers and they relieved him of $17.30 when they got him in the grove.

The police do not believe the two robberies were committed by the same parties because of the difference in the descriptions given. Miller said the two he had experience with were of the same height. It is believed by the police that when the Wall avenue robbery was committed, the thieves got on the Bamberger train and left for Salt Lake.

Many Years' Test of Eckman's Alternative

For several years a large number of voluntarily written testimonials from persons who recovered from Lung Trouble have been received by the makers of Eckman's Alternative, a remedy for the treatment of Throat and Lung Troubles. Surely plenty of time to demonstrate its lasting value. You can write to any of them for confirmation. Here is one:

"5325 Girard Ave., Phila. Pa.
"Gentlemen: In the winter of 1903 I had an attack of Grippe, followed by Pneumonia and later by Consumption. In the winter of 1904 I had cough, night sweats, fever and raised quantities of awful-looking stuff and later I had many hemorrhages; at one time three in three successive days. Milk and eggs became so distasteful I could keep nothing down. Three physicians treated me. I was ordered to the mountains, but did not go. Eckman's Alternative was recommended by a friend. After taking a small quantity I had the first quiet night's sleep for weeks. My improvement was marked from the first. I gained strength and weight and appetite. I never had another hemorrhage and my cough gradually lessened until entirely gone. I am perfectly well."

MAROONED ON STUMP IN CENTER OF LAKE

Park City, July 14.—While boat riding on one of the lakes on Bonanza flat yesterday evening Miss Teresa McLaughlin and James Dalgleish, both of this city, had a narrow escape from drowning.

Miss McLaughlin is spending the month with F. W. Sherman and family, who are camping in the mountains, and yesterday Mr. Dalgleish spent the day with the campers and before starting for home he decided to take the young ladies for a ride on the water, but Miss McLaughlin was the only one who consented to go on the lake.

By some unknown manner the boat caught in underbrush in the water and it was impossible for Mr. Dalgleish to loosen it, so the two people were compelled to get out of the boat and stand on an old stump out near the center of the lake. While they were standing there the boat drifted away and they were left alone.

The Shermans, thinking that Miss McLaughlin had probably walked to town with Mr. Dalgleish did not worry over the young woman's absence, until the hour grew late with no sign of the young people. Then Mr. Sherman and his son, Ira, decided to go up to the lake, and there they found the two young people in the center alone and helpless. They were quickly taken off their "perch" and rowed to shore, where they were taken to the camp and cared for.

Miss McLaughlin was much exhausted by her experience, but soon recovered.

PARDONS FOR TWO BANKERS

Washington, July 15.—President Wilson yesterday granted unconditional pardon to William F. Ketterbach and George H. Kester, each sentenced to five years' imprisonment for making false reports to the controller of the currency on the condition of the Lewiston, Idaho, National bank of which they were president, and cashier, respectively. They were convicted April 4, 1911, but have not served any of their sentence.

A YOUNG MAN'S SUDDEN ILLNESS

John Etherington, age 22, a son of James Etherington of Wilson Lane, became suddenly ill yesterday morning while on a horse purchasing trip to Grouse Creek yesterday morning. He was brought back to Ogden and was examined by County Physician A. Robinson at the county jail and was later permitted to accompany his father home.

Etherington and his 12-year-old brother Robert were together on the trip. When the elder brother left the train at Lucin, the attack of insanity occurred and he was brought to Ogden by Sheriff Olsen of Box Elder county. Although he attempted to injure passengers of the train, he showed great tenderness toward his smaller brother.

The father told the county officials that the son had been ill for several weeks of measles and pneumonia and he believed the attack to have been a result of the illness.

STATE NEWS

PROGRESSIVES BUSY.

Caldwell, Ida., July 14.—William E. Cadmus, national organizer of the Progressive party, arrived in Caldwell this morning for a consultation with State Chairman J. H. Gipson of Caldwell, upon the status of the party in Idaho. Mr. Cadmus said that the Progressive propaganda is making big gains all over the country. He spent last week in Salt Lake, a meeting of the Idaho state committee has been called for tonight in Boise, at which time the Idaho leaders will confer with Mr. Cadmus.

WILL TAKE BENCH ROUTE.

Provo, July 14.—The Orem Interurban railway from Provo to Salt Lake City has let contracts for the construction of its line over Provo bench instead of following the lower survey along the Denver & Rio Grande tracks. The present survey crosses the Provo river near the D. & R. G. tracks and then bears northeast across the bench into Pleasant Grove. This will greatly please the farmers and grocers over Provo bench, as it will furnish them with an outlet for their fruit.

WANTS HUSBAND ARRESTED.

Provo, July 14.—Mrs. Thomas J. Farrer has asked Henry East to arrest her husband, who has confessed to criminal relations with Mrs. Elizabeth C. Choules, city treasurer of Provo, and see that he is punished to the full extent of the law. Mrs. Farrer is the mother of eight children. It is also said Mrs. Farrer will bring suit for divorce.

No action has been taken as yet by the city commissioners to remove another city treasurer nor any move made to declare the office vacant.

HIKE FOR STUDENTS.

Provo, July 14.—The summer students of the B. Y. U. will take their annual hike up Timpanogas mountain next Saturday under the direction of the physical training department, of which Coach E. L. Roberts is the head. A number of the alumni and friends will go on this jaunt. Special meals will be furnished by Professor C. W. Johnson and Professor Gudmundson, who will accompany the hikers.

WOULD JAIL POLICE.

Salt Lake, July 15.—Much indignation was aroused in the neighborhood of the Clarendon hotel, Eleventh South and Twelfth East streets, about 3 o'clock last night by what was characterized by several witnesses as brutal treatment received by Ramond Malin, 19 years of age, at the hands of Juvenile Officer C. A. Sperry and Palamede Crow.

James E. Malin, father of the young man, living on Nineteenth East street, Eleventh and Twelfth South streets, said last night that he will swear to a complaint charging the two officers with assault.

Young Malin charges that the trouble started after he had ridden up to a crowd and stopped out of curiosity. He was on his way home after calling upon a young lady. Concerning what occurred, the young man said:

"I rode up, and one of the officers asked me if I often came by. I answered, 'Yes, every night and morning on my way to and from work.' Some of the boys in the crowd grinned. I grinned back. Officer Sperry said, 'Stop your kidding.' I answered, 'I am not kidding. I guess I can grin at the fellows when they grin at me.' Then Officer Sperry caught my horse by the bit and made it rear back. I did my best to hold on, but he held on and the horse jumped forward. Sperry said I tried to ride over him. They pulled me off and bumped me on the pavement after I was down. As Crow lifted me up, he slapped me. Neither of them had told me he was an officer and neither of them asked me to get off the horse. While they were waiting for the police wagon, Sperry asked me what I worked at. I told him that I drove a surveyor's wagon for the city engineer's office. 'You're a pretty thing to work for the city,' said Officer Sperry. 'Why, you're drunk now.' I told him I was not, that I never drank, and invited him to smell my breath. He answered, 'I don't smell the breath of such people as you,' and he called me a rough neck and shook me."

Young Malin was released by Captain Roberts after he was taken to police headquarters last night. According to the captain, Officer Sperry reported that Malin tried to ride him down, declaring that Malin's horse stepped on his foot. Captain

Roberts said that the officers had been detailed to the locality because of rowdiness in the neighborhood.

W. R. Clark, druggist, charges that the treatment accorded Malin was uncalled for. He said: "There was no excuse for it. The boy was handled most brutally. He could not have been treated worse if he had been a known criminal instead of a boy who was at the worst inclined to smile at the rough questions asked him. The actions of the two men who were supposed to stand for law and order were a disgrace to any man who lays claim to any manly control of himself."

The father of the young man investigated the affair last night and secured the names of several witnesses.

MERGER OF RAILROADS BRINGS IMPROVEMENT

Salt Lake, July 15.—"We are contemplating many improvements for Salt Lake City," said B. F. Bush, president of the Denver & Rio Grande, last night, when he arrived here on his way to the Pacific coast. "I am not yet president of the Western Pacific and our plans are not complete. After I am elected—as I suppose I shall be—and the merger effected, I will arrange for improvements along the system."

When asked about the possibility of the headquarters of the Denver & Rio Grande being moved to San Francisco, President Bush shook his head and said that it was just talk. He would not commit himself regarding the probability that the headquarters of the two western lines of the system would be located here. Mr. Bush and party will be here until Thursday. They stopped at the new work on Soldier's Summit and most of the officials in the party rode over the new detour on horseback. In the party, in addition to Mr. Bush and Vice President E. L. Brown, are A. Robertson, assistant to the president of the Missouri Pacific; J. M. Johnson, vice president in charge of traffic of the Gould system; Mrs. Bush, Mrs. Robertson, C. L. Stone, passenger traffic manager for the Missouri Pacific; J. G. Gwyn, chief engineer for the Denver & Rio Grande; A. Wadleigh, general passenger agent for the Denver & Rio Grande, and A. N. Green, secretary to Mr. Bush. They are staying at the Hotel Utah.

CIRCUS ELEPHANT CHASES AUTOISTS

Salt Lake, July 15.—Chased by an escaped and infuriated elephant and escaping death or serious injury only by the speed of their automobile was the experience in Downey, Ida., a few days ago of A. H. Ensign, a Salt Lake insurance man, and his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ensign and their son have just returned from an auto trip through Wyoming and Idaho and have been telling their friends about their remarkable experience and their wild race to safety.

"We were motoring near Downey," said Mr. Ensign yesterday, "and an elephant belonging to a small circus that had pitched its tents there had become ungovernable and escaped. We did not know that until we saw the huge beast rushing toward us in the road, bellowing and snorting furiously, with its trunk raised.

"The elephant was evidently in a very bad humor. It was coming toward us at a rapid gait and completely blocked the road ahead. I quickly turned the car around and started in the opposite direction, the animal was scarcely more than ten feet behind us. Then began the most thrilling and hair-raising race I have ever taken part in. We knew the beast had escaped from its trainers and its action plainly showed it to be in a mad animal race.

"The beast raced after us, whipping its trunk in the air and continuing the hideous noises. Realizing that we were in the gravest danger, that it probably meant death for us if the animal overtook us. I coaxed speed out of our machine.

"In order to get away from our pursuer as quickly as possible, I did not turn completely around in the road, but started off to one side. The ground was uneven and with our gathering speed, we came near upsetting. This added to the danger of our situation.

"For a time I thought we would have to plunge into a canal and endeavor to escape across it, but as our car generated speed, we gained on the elephant. Also the animal began to tire. In a few minutes we were beyond danger.

SPIRO AND HIS ATTORNEY SCRAP

Salt Lake, July 15.—Rumor has it that there is a lively scrap on between Solon Spiro, president of the Silver King Consolidated Mining company, and his attorneys, respecting fees for services in the suit of the Consolidated company against the Silver King Coalition Mines company.

Under the agreement, entered into at the time of the final judgment in the case, the Silver King Coalition was to satisfy the judgment in three payments. Two of these payments have heretofore been made and the final payment is to be made today. Yesterday the Silver King Coalition, through its secretary, Frank Westcott, sent a check to the bank of McCormick & Co. for $485,005.77.

TWO BOYS DROWNED

Young Men Lose Their Lives While Swimming at Marysville, Utah, in the Sevier River — Companion Escapes and Gives the Alarm

Marysville, July 15.—Vivian Manhard, aged 18, and Van Borg, aged 16, were drowned in the Sevier river, within a few hundred feet of the Denver & Rio Grande station, at 6 o'clock Saturday evening. Richard Ashby escaped the same fate by a hair's breadth.

The two boys had been assisting Mr. Ashby with putting up his alfalfa, and the three concluded to take a swim in the favorite bend of the river. During the last year or two the bend has been working toward the east and has formed a most treacherous condition of swirls and undercurrents.

Young Borg and Manhard were, according to the report of Mr. Ashby, playing in the water, and he paid but little attention to them. A few minutes elapsed, when Manhard's startling cry, "Ashby, come quick! Van's drowning!" was heard. Ashby was on the opposite side of the bank and, hearing, saw the boys struggling in the water. Just a minute before Mr. Ashby had noticed Manhard swimming rapidly toward Borg, but inferred that it was more of the usual sport. The current is difficult to stem, but Ashby reached the struggling youths as quickly as possible. With the despair which actuates the drowning, Manhard threw his arm around Ashby's neck, while Borg grasped him by the right arm. Together the three of them sank and were carried toward the vertical bank. Ashby, knowing that the occasion was one of life and death, caught a submerged willow and released himself, intending to again make an attempt to rescue the boys.

Weak and straining, Ashby gained the bank, saw the boys floating down stream, but knew that in his condition he was powerless to save them. As quickly as possible he moved to a position in plain view of the railroad station and called for help. The train had been delayed and many men and boys were awaiting its arrival. When the men at the station realized that a tragedy was being enacted a race began toward the river. But it was too late. Gilbert Beebe of Junction jumped into the river and brought the body of young Borg to the bank. Manhard's body was soon afterward recovered. It is believed that had there been someone present who knew the means of resuscitating the drowned the boys could have been revived.

MILK STATION SOON TO BE ESTABLISHED
Salt Lake, July 15.—Salt Lake's first municipal milk station, from which mothers may obtain milk that is absolutely pure, will be established within the next few days. The city commission last night authorized the transfer of $225 from one account to another in the health department to be used in operating the station.

Dr. Samuel G. Paul, who recommended the new departure, plans to make of the milk station a basis for a systematic baby saving campaign during the remainder of the summer season. He is confident that the milk station, along with the work that can be conducted from it, will materially reduce the mortality rate among infants.

The two district nurses engaged six months ago for work among the school children will be transferred to the milk station for the summer. One of the nurses will be on hand at all times to aid mothers with timely advice as to the treatment of their ailing children. It is also planned to have one of the doctors attached to the health department establish certain office hours at the milk station, where mothers may consult as to the best methods of rearing their infants.

Dr. Paul said yesterday that if the milk station idea proves successful he will endeavor to have other stations opened. The first station will be opened at Sixth West and South Temple streets.
